

THE "FLECKA" BOWLS

By Dusty Ware

We McCoy Collectors are frequently trying to put a descriptive name on any given piece of McCoy Pottery. First of all, it's kind of a fun thing to do but secondly, it helps tremendously when trying to identify a piece in a communication without a photo. For example, the Zebra Planter needs no "naming" but what about an eight-inch yellow vase or a white simple designed planter? Sometimes it can be a real challenge when the design of the piece is rather simple and does not carry any specific characteristic that can be used for identification.

Well; we can cross one more of those style pieces off the list. Below is a simple price listing for the "FLECKA" Bowl Series! Each size has a different color in the series. The photos on the opposite page are of the five-inch size which indeed has a base pink color with the flecks throughout.
